

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

I can not believe that in this time of financial crisis that the FCC would even consider doing something as irresponsible and morally corrupt. Mainly because of business interests, I have little enough faith in my media as it is. Don't change the ownership rules to once again serve the interests of big business. For once, think of the citizens of our country and your duty to help make sure that we have a semblance of a free press.
